

Conservatives
for Property Rights

Embargoed until 12 noon, June 9
June 9, 2022

Contact: Ryan Moy
rmoy@crcpublicrelations.com

Statement on RSC Budget Blueprint to Save America

“ . . . a brilliant blueprint for addressing America’s urgent problems ”

This statement on the House Republican Study Committee’s fiscal year 2023 budget proposal may be attributed to James Edwards, Executive Director, Conservatives for Property Rights:

“From a property rights perspective, there’s a lot to like about the Republican Study Committee’s FY23 budget, the Blueprint to Save America. On behalf of Conservatives for Property Rights, I commend the RSC’s proposal to put sound budgetary and fiscal measures on the table.

“Instead of ‘Build Back Broke,’ the RSC budget would repair America’s fiscal foundation and empower people. It’s a brilliant blueprint for addressing America’s urgent problems.

“Big picture, the RSC budget would reduce the federal deficit, lower the punishing ‘tax’ of inflation and put the government on a path to a balanced budget. RSC’s plan would help ensure that Medicare and Social Security are there for seniors in their retirement years who’ve paid into them and qualify as beneficiaries.

“Regarding property rights, RSC’s budget would repeal the Death Tax, which takes already-taxed assets that families need for small businesses and bills. The plan would halt federal land grabs, freezing public lands at the current 28 percent. It would restore Fifth Amendment protections to eminent domain. GIG Act provisions would protect independent-contractor status.

“In contrast to ‘Build Back Worser’s’ tax increases and overregulation, this budget would make permanent the 2017 tax cuts so individuals, families and small businesses could keep more of what they earn. By reducing regulatory burdens, strengthening Congress’s oversight and constraint of federal agencies, and scaling back the Administrative State, RSC would spark free enterprise and American ingenuity. It would bind bureaucrats and grow the economic pie.

“To bolster U.S. industrial competitiveness, the RSC budget would secure our supply chains and increase domestic manufacturing. It would increase R&D and capital expensing and decrease the tax burden on U.S.-based facilities.

“To improve health care, RSC would free up health coverage design, promote consumer choice and competition, and oppose government price controls on innovators.”

###